employment opportunities for individuals who have been adversely affected. In 2022, we successfully implemented over 900 livelihood and self-employment projects, which have helped to improve the economic stability and well-being of numerous families and communities.

I am proud of the work that our organization has accomplished in 2022, and I want to thank all of our supporters and partners for their dedication and commitment to our mission. Together, we are making a difference in the lives of people, and we will continue to work towards a brighter future for all.

We have completed another year of significant progress in our mission to empower communities through sustainable development initiatives. 2022 was a year of challenges, but we remained steadfast in our commitment to make a positive impact in many lives through our promising projects. In this year, through 600+ projects in 339 districts of the country we could reach to 1.45 million beneficiaries.

Apart from the ongoing projects under core sectors, this year, our major focus was on developing our own campuses in the most backward regions of the country. Currently, we have seven campuses in six states. Our goal is to turn these campuses into centres of learning and development, where individuals from underprivileged communities can access high-quality education and other essential services that they have been deprived of for far too long.

In addition, we have prioritized the economic empowerment of vulnerable communities, particularly those who have been negatively impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic and subsequent lockdowns. Our projects in this sector are designed to provide livelihood support and create self-

Unsafe water has always been a major cause of human misery. If we look at the Indian scenario, every day, millions of Indians wake up in the morning without access to clean water. In a study conducted by Vision in Barmer, it was found that thousands of women spend 4-6 hours daily fetching water from distant wells. Their childhood, youth, and adult age are consumed by the water deficiency of the region. Vision 2026 which is working for the last two decades in the field of community development and drinking water projects came across the pressing need for intervention in the area of water. In the last half a decade Vision has built around 52 deep wells in three rural blocks of the Barmer district. This report is part of the impact assessment of those deep wells in the life of beneficiaries, especially women. To assess the project impact, beneficiary feedback was collected from half of the project locations. In this report, the findings of the assessment are presented.

Nagrik Vikas Kendra (NVK) as Social Change Agent

How Small Interventions are Uplifting
Life Standards in Rural Jharkhand

Read the full report here

To address socio-economic problems among the marginal class, both the state and central governments run range of welfare schemes to offer social and economic security to the impoverished citizen. However, it has been observed that the awareness about these schemes among its potential beneficiaries is inadequate or at times missing. In this context, Vision 2026 has taken initiatives to make people aware and make them access benefits of these social welfare schemes through Nagrik Vikas Kendras (NVKs) in the hinterlands of rural India.

Four NVKs are operating in four tribal districts of Jamtara, Godda, Gumani, and Pakur in Jharkhand. The NVK coordinator works as a Social Change Agent, who sensitizes the beneficiaries, helps them process the application. In the last four years, Social Change Agents from NVKs have made big changes in the lives of people with their small but impactful interventions. During our field assessment, we found encouraging grassroots changes due to the presence of NVKs. In this report, some of the stories of changes are shared.

Meher Banu's Small Business

Meher Banu is a hardworking women entrepreneur, who runs a small business in her house located in the Eidgah Kaman area in the city of Nanded, Maharashtra. Prior to 2018, Mohammed Sadiq Hussain, her husband, a hardworking mason couldn't provide the family with the essentials to live a decent life. To sustain the family, Mr. and Mrs. Hussain borrowed money from local moneylenders. The family was in enormous debt and the interests kept on rising to lead their lives into turmoil. Banu has been a member of Rahat Nanded (a branch of Sahulat) for the past 4 years. Since then, she has availed of three different loans from Rahat for her business. Her first loan was of Rs.20,000/- to start a general store in her house. After clearing the first loan, she availed of another loan of Rs. 25,000/- for expanding her business. During the tenure of this loan, the COVID lockdown turned things upside down. She became worried about the repayment, but Rahat provided her with an extension without any increase in the cost. When the situation was normalized, she cleared the second loan as well and applied for the third loan of Rs. 40,000/-
